Regional Council

IN THE MATTER OF      The Resource Management Act 1991

AND

IN THE MATTER OF      Application CRC071029 to take and use water for irrigation purposes.

SUPPLEMENTARY JOINT STATEMENT BY ROBERT POTTS AND JEFFREY PAGE

1. We (Messrs Potts and Page) both presented information on the amount of water currently subject to water permits and sought by applicants below the Waitaki Dam in relation to Rule 2, Table 3, Line xvii (allocation limit) and Rule 6, Table 5, lines v and vi (annual allocation) in the Waitaki Catchment Water Allocation Regional Plan (Waitaki Regional Plan). Their individual analysis resulted in different cumulative totals for instantaneous rate and annual volumes.
2. To attempt to reconcile the difference in the assessments in relation to instantaneous rates and annual volumes, we re-examined the consents included in the allocations and looked more closely at the consented activities. This included the consideration of further information that may have only been available to one of us, and the consideration of any new information that has come to hand.
3. As a consequence of this work, the difference between the assessments has narrowed. The results of the re-examination are summarised in Figures A (allocation limit) and B (annual volumes) below, and set out in detail in Appendices One (Rule 2) and Two (Rule 6) attached to this statement.
4. The differences between Messrs Potts and Page are primarily due to different assumptions as to how Rules 2 and 6 of the Waitaki Regional Plan are to be applied. These relate to whether there should be different treatments for water permits (and applications) for surface water divers when compared to water permits (and applications) for surface water takes.
5. Both Messrs Potts and Page agree that it is appropriate to only count the water once, that is to include either a 'divert' or 'take' in relation to the same water, not both. Generally, when the 'divert' and 'take' are in combination, the authorised divert results in greater instantaneous rates and annual volumes than the authorised 'take'. Mr Page takes the 'divert' rates and volumes, whereas Mr Potts adopts the 'take' on the basis the balance of the divert water is returned to the river. Further, Mr Potts excludes divers that he considers are non-consumptive – for example, fish farms.
6. At the heart of this difference is a plan interpretation issue. Mr Page's assumption is derived from the definition of 'allocation limits' and 'annual volumes' provided in the Waitaki Regional Plan, that small amounts of water can be diverted as a permitted activity in accordance with Rule 1 which are excluded from Rules 2 and 6, and the specific provision for exclusion in Rule 2(3) and Rule 6(2) for a narrow range of diversions. Mr Potts' assumptions are set out in his evidence-in-chief at paragraph 77.
7. The figures in the tables below include mining rights on the tributaries which are included in the Agricultural and Horticultural allocation as those consents are now deemed resource consents which issued for irrigation use, as well as stockwater and domestic supply. The volumes included are as per the annual volume listed on the consent, which is for 365 days/year continuous use and was included as a condition when the consent documents were up-dated in January 2006 to reflect the mining privilege entitlements. In the evidence presented by Mr Potts to the Water Allocation Board, these were treated as ordinary irrigation consents, applying water for 158 days/year – this makes 20.1 million m<sup>3</sup> difference, i.e. if they hadn't been reissued with a 365 day volume and were treated as irrigation takes then the annual volume (existing and applied for) would reduce from Mr Potts' 163.5 to 143.4 million m<sup>3</sup>.

8. Finally, Messrs Potts and Page wish to reinforce the difficulties in determining, in particular, annual volumes in relation to existing water permits. In a majority of circumstances the figures presented are an 'estimate'. The need to 'estimate' is because annual volumes are not specified on the relevant water permits. To illustrate, the Lower Waitaki Irrigation Company consent (CRC950649.1) only includes maximum instantaneous rate of takes for the Lower Waitaki and Downlands schemes. However, the Lower Waitaki scheme provides water for both spray and border irrigation, stockwater, Oamaru Town and Community Scheme, Alliance's Pukeuri Plant (Industry and Commercial), and to keep irrigation races wet in the non-irrigation season for habitat reasons. Accordingly, it is necessary to make assumptions in relation to the amount of water each activity receives, and when.
