

Outpost Live Water Meter™

Outpost is an install and forget solution that connects your water meter directly to Environment Canterbury to meet your compliance reporting requirements at a low cost.

Robust You want a technology that just works. Outpost is deployed on many thousands of meters around the world and used by Water Utilities such as Sydney Water, ActewAGL and Metrowater.

Low Cost The total cost of owning an Outpost system will usually be less than operating a manual download process. You shouldn't be creating new business processes to satisfy regulatory requirements.

Expandable Connect a range of water, energy and environmental meters & sensors to your personal, password protected website for improved information and farm management.

Local Service The most important component of a robust solution is the installation. You can purchase your Outpost solution through any PGG Wrightson or WaterForce irrigation company and be assured of a quality installation.

How does Outpost work?

Outpost connects to any water meter with a pulse output and automatically sends flow rate and volumes to www.outpostcentral.com using the Vodafone network. The internal lithium battery pack can last 5 to 10 years before it needs replacing and the hardware is IP68 waterproof and able to be installed outside next to the meter. A low monthly fee includes Vodafone costs, website hosting and delivery of compliance reports direct to Environment Canterbury.

NZ Owned Outpost technology has been designed for local conditions. Outpost Central Ltd is a 100% New Zealand owned company and is the 3rd fastest growing technology company in NZ. We are a leader in water monitoring and our products are exported globally.

ECAN Approved Outpost is an ECan Authorised Data Service Provider, data logger and telemetry device in one.

Award Winning Metermate, our Australian Joint Venture, was awarded the Green Globe award for monitoring over 1000 Australian schools with Outpost water meter monitoring and our "child friendly website"

Added Value We have some of the best online tools available for analysing your water and electricity consumption. Our systems are deployed by large users of water and electricity to reduce their energy costs and manage their water resources.

Outpost is available from your local PGG Wrightson and WaterForce irrigation company.
